Lawrence J. Conlan is a founding partner of Presidio Law Firm LLP and one of California's leading trial lawyers.

A strategic counselor known for his steady command under pressure and disciplined approach to complex disputes, he has spent more than two decades representing clients in high stakes class action, business, real estate, and personal injury litigation.

Mr. Conlan has successfully litigated and tried cases involving insurance bad faith, class actions, misappropriation of trade secrets and unfair competition, real estate disputes, financial elder abuse, claims of conspiracy and aiding and abetting, fiduciary and shareholder conflicts, lender and trustee liability, and investment fraud in venues across California, New York, Nevada, Idaho, New Hampshire, and the Cayman Islands. He is frequently retained to advise and litigate for premier cannabis businesses.

Mr. Conlan's landmark victories include winning one of the nation's top jury verdicts of 2024 for insurance bad faith against Starr Indemnity & Liability Company. As class counsel and trial counsel in the Plains Oil Spill cases, he helped secure $320 million in settlements for property owners, fishers, and oil workers. Combining deep legal insight with strategic judgment, as a plaintiff's lawyer, he has achieved exceptional results for clients.

Before co-founding Presidio Law Firm, Mr. Conlan led litigation teams at prominent firms in California and New York City, earning a reputation as a forceful litigator with utmost professionalism and integrity in high stakes cases.

A lifelong advocate for justice, his practice reflects Presidio Law Firm's mission to protect, secure, and advance what clients have built, and to help them rebuild when everything is on the line with precision, vigilance, and results.
