Travis C. Logue is a founding partner of Presidio Law Firm LLP and one of California's leading real estate and civil litigators.

Over more than two decades of practice, Mr. Logue has guided clients through more than $1 billion in combined results across complex real estate transactions and high-stakes litigation. City of Santa Barbara*, a precedent-setting appellate decision preserving property rights in California's coastal zone.

Bringing rare dual fluency in sophisticated real estate transactions and litigation, Mr. Logue combines strategic judgment with measured execution in cases involving ownership, catastrophic injury, and recovery.

He advocates for individuals, property owners, and businesses in significant disputes and catastrophic injury cases across California.

Mr. Logue also advises entrepreneurs, family offices, and developers on high value transactions and sensitive matters requiring discretion, providing strategic, results-driven guidance.

Before co-founding Presidio Law Firm, Mr. Logue litigated and negotiated against international conglomerates, Fortune 500 companies, publicly traded corporations, and dismantled organized fraud enterprises, earning a reputation for discipline, resolve, and composure under pressure.

Mr. Logue's practice reflects Presidio's mission to protect, secure, and advance what clients have built—and to restore what they have lost—with precision, vigilance, and results.
